My Place AWARDS 2020

The My Place Awards recognise community-led built environment projects that have transformed their locality.

The My Place Awards judge excellence in terms of design, community involvement and impact.

"The My Place Awards celebrate local places and spaces and aim to empower Scotland's communities. The 2020 entries are inspiring examples of the difference passionate, determined communities and good design can make to Scotland's places."

- Colin McLean, Chair of Judging Panel

"The My Place Awards are such an important part of Scotland's celebration of places across the country, and the contribution communities have made to improving local areas. The Awards recognise very positive project outcomes for communities as well as highlighting challenges and the way in which these have been successfully overcome."

- Fiona Hyslop, Cabinet Secretary for Culture, Tourism and External Affairs, The Scottish Government

How do I take part?

Nominations can be made by community groups responsible for built environment projects.

We encourage members of the public to get in touch with us on social media or by phone to suggest built environment projects that have made a difference in their town. We then contact the projects about submitting a nomination.

For further details and to see previous shortlisted entries visit:

BALMACLELLAN SMIDDY

Dumfries & Galloway

This formerly derelict Galloway cottage has been given new life as a vibrant community hub. Recognising a sense of redundancy and neglect in the centre of Balmaclellan village, the community came together to brainstorm their needs for a new space. The people of Balmaclellan outlined a sustainable, accessible space that celebrated local heritage, provided training opportunities and offered space for local groups. The new building delivers all this and more, and has become the centre of village life. The building also enhances Balmaclellan's special sense of place by retaining the original Galloway Cottage exterior, complemented by a new-build extension to provide more space.

BRIDGEND FARMHOUSE

Edinburgh

Bridgend Farmhouse sits at the crossroads of three large housing estates, an area that has experienced high unemployment and poverty which has left a legacy of poor health, lack of affordable facilities and isolation. The farmhouse had fallen into disrepair in the early 2000s, until local residents recognised the site's key location and came together to pitch the idea of a community hub. Today, the sustainably-renovated farmhouse has saved a piece of local history and revamped the site with timber charring, interior designs and perimeter walls completed by volunteers. The space now has a kitchen providing healthy meals; a host of different workshops for woodworking, arts and crafts and bike hire; and over 80 regular volunteers.

FALLS OF SHIN VISITOR ATTRACTION

Highland

The Falls of Shin are known for being one of the best places in Scotland to view salmon leaping upstream. After the original visitor centre was destroyed by fire in 2013, the local area suffered with the loss of a leading local employer. Recognising the need for regeneration, Kyle of Sutherland Development Trust secured funding to rebuild on the site and consulted the community about the new design. The new visitor attraction was opened in 2017 and is built mainly in timber, connecting the building to the surrounding pine forests. The site also includes educational panels, a restaurant, woodland trails and play area and has hosted events from business breakfasts to family fun days.

GAIRLOCH MUSEUM

Highland

Gairloch Museum opened in 1977 to preserve and promote the history, culture and beauty of Gairloch. But by 2011, the original museum building, a converted farm steading, had an increasingly leaky roof and an irrevocably-ending lease. The museum needed a new home, so staff jumped on the opportunity to innovatively renovate Highland Council's redundant Roads Depot, originally a Cold War-era bunker. Through the generosity and determination of the community, Gairloch Museum raised money to re-clad, insulate and to cut cores in the 600mm-thick reinforced-concrete to let in natural light. Local people also contributed ideas for new displays and activities and the museum boasts a team of over 120 local volunteers.

PORTPATRICK HARBOUR COMMUNITY HUB

Dumfries and Galloway

A row of old harbour sheds in Portpatrick have been transformed into a lovely community hub with a workshop, storage, harbour office, laundry/kitchenette and multi-function event space. The project was begun in 2015 with the formation of the Portpatrick Community Benefit Society, who used community shares to buy back the harbour from a property developer who had allowed the harbour to fall into disrepair. The society has 554 members who take an active role by patronising a weekly open forum to discuss maximum utilisation of the space. From car boot sales, quiz nights, barbeques and local heritage displays, there's something for everyone at the hub.

STRONTIAN PRIMARY SCHOOL

Highland

Faced with the possibility of the village school becoming temporary modular units, parents and residents worried that the future of the Strontian was on shaky ground. Working with the Highlands Small Communities Housing Trust, they came up with a provocative idea: what if the community built a school and leased it to the Council? They set to work fundraising and tendering the construction, eventually choosing a design based on the footprint of four housing units. This gives the site the flexibility to be converted to quality, affordable housing in the future. The new school has transformed the educational experience of the pupils by providing more space, facilities, light and green space.

BROOMHOUSE COMMUNITY HUB

Edinburgh

NOMINATED BY:

The Broomhouse Centre

DESIGNER: Russell Baxter Norr

CLIENT: The Broomhouse Centre

This new-build community centre replaced a smaller, existing one on the premises. Floor space has been doubled to include a large hall, cafe, commercial kitchen, studio, meeting space and more. The hub empowers the community to take control of the services and spaces that matter to them.

CRAIL PRIORY DOOCOT

Fife

NOMINATED BY:

Crail Preservation Society

DESIGNER: Simpson & Brown

CLIENT: Crail Preservation Society

Crail Doocot is an A-listed, 16th century doocot (a structure for housing birds). Restoration began in 2014, when local school pupils assisted an archaeological dig on-site to inform the design. The doocot is now open to the public, with a repaired sandstone roof, new floors, lighting and interpretation panels to improve access.

JIM CLARK MOTORSPORT MUSEUM

Scottish Borders

NOMINATED BY: Live Borders

DESIGNER: Ray Cherry / Scottish Borders Council

CLIENT: Live Borders

The museum celebrates Scotland's first Formula One world champion. Originally built as a villa in the Duns Conservation Area, the building has been extended and refurbished, providing an open floor plan for exhibitions. The new museum drew a record-breaking 13,000 visitors in 2019 and is supported by a team of local volunteers.

KIRKCALDY OLD KIRK

Fife

NOMINATED BY:

Kirkcaldy Old Kirk Trust

DESIGNER: Stephen Newsom & Tom Morton of Arc Architects

CLIENT: Kirkcaldy Old Kirk Trust

The B-listed kirk has formed the heart of Kirkcaldy's streetscape since the 15th century. In 2010, when the Church of Scotland declared it surplus to requirements, 1,200 local people petitioned for the church to become a community space. It now hosts a heritage centre, non-denominational congregation and other events.

KELSO COMMUNITY MEMORIAL GARDEN

Scottish Borders

NOMINATED BY:

Kelso Community Council

DESIGNER:

Alistair Finnie & Stuart Young

CLIENT: Kelso Community Council

The people of Kelso came together to develop a creative, beautiful way to honour friends and family who had passed away and had their ashes scattered elsewhere. They designed a garden as a dedicated memorial space, where people could come for tranquil reflection and to remember loved ones.

MILNGAVIE AND BEARSDEN MEN'S SHED

East Dunbartonshire

NOMINATED & DESIGNED BY:

Milngavie and Bearsden Men's Shed

CLIENT:

Milngavie and Bearsden Men's Shed

When the Men's Shed inherited the Pagoda building, originally designed as a 1970s tennis pavilion, it was inhabited by pigeons and ridden with holes. The men renovated the space, installing insulation and roofing and designing a social area and workshops. The Men's Shed now conducts life-saving work by combating social isolation and loneliness.

OCHILTREE COMMUNITY HUB

East Ayrshire

NOMINATED BY:

Ochiltree Community Hub

DESIGNER: anderson bell + christie

CLIENT: Ochiltree Community Hub

The design of Ochiltree Community Hub was led by a residents' survey which was delivered and collected from each local house. The new building opened in 2019 with great local interest and has been used for birthday parties, yoga, football, table tennis, training, meetings and more, establishing it at the heart of the community.

TOLBOOTH LANARK

South Lanarkshire

NOMINATED BY:

The Guildry of Lanark

DESIGNER: Stellan Brand Architects

CLIENT: Tolbooth Lanark

The Tolbooth Lanark was saved in 1992 when various local groups purchased the derelict building and carried out maintenance work. In 2018, the Tolbooth Lanark Trust redesigned the downstairs and upgraded facilities to encourage more community use. It is now a vibrant exhibition centre for local arts groups and well-used meeting space for local clubs.

PIERHEAD PLAY PARK

Fife

NOMINATED BY:

North Queensferry Community Trust

DESIGNER: Sutcliffe Play (Scotland)

CLIENT: Fife Council

In 2018, Pierhead Play Park fell into neglect and risked closure until local residents formed a Community Project Group. They secured funding and worked with local school pupils to design new play equipment. Now the park is a well-loved space with a nautical theme that aptly fits its location next to the River Forth.

WEST HIGHLAND WAY

East Dunbartonshire

NOMINATED BY: Milngavie BID

DESIGNER: Page\Park Architects

CLIENT: Milngavie BID

Previously, walkers from around the world converging on Milngavie to embark on the West Highland Way were met by a tarmac ramp and blank gable. Local groups, residents and authorities launched a project to revamp the area by welcoming walkers with these beautiful steel panels depicting some of the most iconic images along the Way.

WW1 CENTENARY MEMORIAL

Dumfries and Galloway

NOMINATED BY: Eastriggs, Dornock and Creca Community Group

DESIGNER: Alexander McKay

CLIENT: Eastriggs, Dornock and Creca Memorial Garden

Eastriggs was built during WWI to provide housing and amenities for those employed at a nearby munitions factory. To commemorate the 100th anniversary of the war and Eastrigg's founding, the community council put on a public event, commemorating the milestone with a new memorial and time capsule.

My Place PHOTOGRAPHY

The My Place Photography competition is a Scotland-wide built environment photography competition for young people of school age. The theme for 2020 is water, in celebration of Scotland's Year of Coasts and Waters.

The My Place Photography Competition encourages young people to explore the buildings, architecture and archaeology in the places they live, and experiment with using photography as a means of investigation and creative expression.

How do I take part?

All young people of school age (4-18) in Scotland are eligible to enter this free competition. Entry is open not only to school classes, but also youth groups, clubs and home-educated young people. Group leaders or teachers must register as a member on myplacescotland.org.uk and then upload entries on behalf of their young people.

There are three awards categories:

- Primary school age
- Secondary school age
- Young Persons' Choice Award (judged by a young panel)

Judging Panel 2020

Colin McLean – Photographer, and Chair of Scottish Civic Trust
Dr David Mitchell – Director of Conservation, Historic Environment Scotland
Phoebe Grigor – Photographer and Filmmaker
Katie Murray – Communities & Place Manager, Keep Scotland Beautiful
Calum Rennie – Architectural Designer, Civic Soup CIC

The judges said, "The entries were a beautiful selection of images which demonstrate the creativity and perspective of young people, and their perception of the places and spaces where they live."

My Place MENTORING

Scottish Civic Trust's My Place Mentoring programme supports community groups across Scotland to increase the skills, knowledge and connections needed to get their heritage projects off the ground. Our priority is helping groups who are marginalised, due to remote location or because they are underrepresented in heritage (women; Black, Asian and minority ethnic people; lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender and queer people; those in situations of economic disadvantage).

Wondering if we could help you? Some of our Mentoring groups have received help with: transforming a local building into a space for community use, engaging the community with their project, coordinating fundraising and strategising project development.

For more information, visit: myplacescotland.org.uk/my-place-mentoring
